

I am writing to express my concern that KLOVE 91.1 radio station could be facing removal from our local radio station. I strongly feel that KLOVE, the staff and music have a great impact in my community. Since the terrorist attack on 9-11-01, many people have began to search for answers regarding very tough questions about thier future and the world around them. KLOVE's ministry goes far beyond music. Thier pastoral staff is available to all listeners, where they are supporters or not. 24 hours a day. These men and women help people to work through difficult times in thier lives. They pray with them and for them. Many people continue phone contact with the initial pastoral staff member for days, weeks, and sometimes longer. All of this counseling is at no cost to the caller or writter EVER. Most businesses run with money in mind, not the best interest of the person in need. I listen to KLOVE everyday. At home, in my car. My 18 year old daughter also listens to christian music. The music in and of itself has made a grat impact in her life. Many young people are the ones needing reassurance of a positive foundation in thier life. I personally have recieved prayer from the pastoral staff. Recently, a young women was on the verg of suicide. She heard a song on KLOVE that spoke to her heart about how important her life really wasand how the darkness in her life could be turned to light and she could live a life free from this darkness that was about to consume her. She is alive today because of KLOVE and thier ministry. No other radio station she would have listened to that day would have had music and staff to lift her up. Music has a great impact on peoples lives. The words can be very destructive or very positive. You would be doing a great disservice to the people in Colorado if KLOVE was removed from the air.
